Venue

Institute of Macromolecular Chemistry of the National Academy of Sciences of Ukraine (IMC NASU) (founded in 1958), is leading research center of Ukraine in the field of polymer science. Basic scientific directions are included chemistry, physicochemistry and technology of polymers and polymer composites.

To improve and coordinate the research in the field of polymer science as well as to broaden collaborative networks between scientists of educational and research institutions and industrial specialists of Ukraine and other countries the IMC NASU under support of the National Academy of Sciences of Ukraine, D.I. Mendeleev Ukrainian Chemical Society and the NASU Scientific Board on Chemistry and Modification of Polymers regularly organizes the scientific conferences. Previous XIII Ukrainian Conference on Macromolecules "BMC-2013" was successfully held in Kyiv, Ukraine in 2013. In the work of "BMC-2013" took place near 200 scientists and specialists from academic and educational institutions, and industry of Ukraine, Russia, Belarus, Poland, Lithuania and other countries. The best presentations of young scientist were awarded by Scientific committee of "BMC-2013". Since 2010 IMC NASU founded the special issue of Polimernyi Zhurnal (scientific journal on polymer science founded by IMC NASU) which comprises the best scientific works of young researchers presented in the conference.
